Technical Experience

Projects

- Ultimate Tic-Tac-Toe (2024). Ultimate Tic-Tac-Toe created as part of a group project where 2 players could play together on the same computer using two different web browsers. My role was to create the logic of the game, making changes and updates to the game state behind the scenes. (Python, html)
- Personal Website (2024). A website made to independently learn and practice web development skills. Displays current capabilities in web development through pictures, links, and styling. Still under further development (html, css, javascript)
- Minimum Spanning Set: Runs a script using a correctly formatted file containing sets. The script will return the smallest union of sets that will produce a set with all elements. (Python)
- The Game of Life (2024). A simulation that runs for a given number of iterations that simulates John Conway's game of life. (java)
